

Web Hosting

When choosing a web host there are a few things to consider. Finding a free host is fine for non-commercial use but you will need something more substantial if you have an online or offline business and want to make money from your site. Going down the paid route the main things to look out for are, reliability and speed of access. The amount of bandwidth and disk space is important if you plan to run videos ect. A good webhost should have a good technical support desk and be available 24/7. Always carry out a review of the company you are considering using, Google them and also check out whois.com

Below are a few recommendations to consider.

Host Gator

Best web hosting to pay monthly, Unlimited hosting plan.

Host Gator unlimited web hosting plans start form $4.95/month if you pre-pay yearly, and a popular Baby unlimited domains hosting plan that can be paid monthly at $9.95 per month. HostGator hosting is known to offer superb customer support that is provided 24/7 by experienced HostGator's USA based staff.

LINK TO RESOURCE

Rating

Blue Host

Reliable web hosting since 1996, supports SSH access.

Blue Host provides reliable hosting since 1996 with probably the best customer support around, offering unlimited hosting space with advanced features like SSH support, Ruby (RoR), Python, etc. BlueHost hosting offers a FREE domain forever as well as many other freebies included, such as FREE Blog, Forum install, etc.

LINK TO RESOURCE

Rating

Just Host

All in One web hosting, Anytime Money Back Guarantee.

Just Host provides all-inclusive cheap web hosting plan with unlimited web space and FREE website builder that comes with many very nice web page templates to easily build a web site. JustHost hosting offers a FREE instant account setup and many free add-ons like Google Adwords credit, MySpace Ad credits, etc.

LINK TO RESOURCE

Rating

D9 Hosting

Established in 2007 from the UK, D9 Hosting are a very good company for the internet marketer. They have very reliable servers with little downtime, a professional, fast and friendly support team and are very affordable.

LINK TO RESOURCE

Rating

iPage

Quick & Easy web hosting, 100% Green hosting service. iPage provides cheap hosting plan that includes everything one might ever need to setup and run a full featured website quickly and easily including 2 advanced Drag & Drop website builder tools, Online Store, Blog and Photo gallery, Security Suite, etc. iPage hosting offers a FREE domain name for life, Google Adwords, Yahoo! & Facebook Marketing credit.

LINK TO RESOURCE

Rating

Unixy

Regarded as a business infrastructure provider they strive for success in a very professional manner. They are getting rave reviews all over the internet right now and are an expanding company. With fully managed servers, an excellent support team and very reasonable price packages they realise the implications and the needs of the internet marketing industry.

LINK TO RESOURCE

Rating

Domain Registrars

The domain name of your business is extremely important, the name has to reflect the industry, niche or business you are involved with. So like choosing your hosting package there is a lot of choice out there on the web, it is recommended not to have your domain registered at your host because if one goes out of business then you could lose everything.

Below are a few recommendations to consider.

Name Cheap

If their name didn't already give it away, you probably gathered that this site offers simple domain name registration services for relatively low prices – but that's not the only reason they made the list. They've also gained a reputation for providing excellent customer service, and they offer a wide range of different package deals to suit just about every user.

LINK TO RESOURCE

Rating

Go Daddy

Perhaps the most well-known registrar in the business, GoDaddy is both loved and hated. On the one hand, people love it for its relatively cheap package deals and abundant promotional codes that can be used to get deep discounts. On the other hand, some users criticize the service for its aggressive advertising and upselling practices. Regardless, we like them for their fast customer service and wide variety of domain registration/Web hosting bundles.

LINK TO RESOURCE

Rating

1&1

1&1 is definitely a front-runner when it comes to low prices, but they've also got tons of added value bonuses that come with registration. Buy a one-year registration and you'll get a five-page domain parking package, an email account with 2GB of storage, and free private domain registration to shield your personal info from prying eyes. They also offer free domain transfers if you're looking to switch over from another registrar

LINK TO RESOURCE

Rating

I Want My Name

IWMN takes a super minimalist approach when it comes to their domain name registrar services. The company made a point to cut down on clutter and make registering a domain as painless as possible. Upon arrival at the site, you'll find a mostly white page with very few buttons and links – but they're the important ones. IWMN also makes it easy to add various web services to your domain at the point of registration.

LINK TO RESOURCE

Rating

Enom

One of the fastest growing domain registrars today. It has about 11% of the total market of domain names today. If you want a good domain you can certainly try the enom.com.

LINK TO RESOURCE

Rating

Name.com

Name is a dead-simple domain registration site that boasts a few features that most others don't have. When you search for a domain name of any kind, it goes beyond simply telling you if it's available or not and will actually let you know if a domain is (or will be) up for auction. They also offer this thing called the domain grabber, which is essentially a service where you pay Name.com to snatch up a taken domain that you really want as soon as it becomes available.

LINK TO RESOURCE

Rating 